CalibrePress.com - Street Survival NewsLine

Are you up to date on critical lethal and less-lethal force issues?

A thorough updating on court cases and guidelines regarding the reasonable use of force will be presented at the renowned Lethal and Less-Lethal Force Workshop, sponsored by Americans for Effective Law Enforcement in Las Vegas.

Faculty members will include attorney Michael Brave, the nation's leading authority on Taser-related legal matters; Greg Meyer, an advisory board member of the Force Science Research Center and an expert on lethal and less-lethal force options; Dr. John Peters, noted authority on excited delirium and in-custody deaths; and Judge Emory Plitt Jr., well-known for his expertise in police liability issues.

Also on the program will be Dr. Bill Lewinski, executive director of the Force Science Research Center and Dr. Alexis Artwohl, an FSRC board member and former police psychologist. Lewinski and Artwohl will address the latest research in biological, physiological, and psychological aspects of deadly force encounters.

For more information or for registration for this cutting-edge conference, contact AELE's Law Enforcement Legal Center at 800-763-2802 or visit the AELE website at www.aele.org

9/25/2008